PHOTOPLAYS AND PHOTOPLAYERS

MABEL TALIAFERRO. The stage star, who has the leading role in Selig's film production of "Cinderella," at the Hippodrome today.

Use Laugh Barometer To Make Comedy In the Film Dramas.

One of the most important things that the pictures have done during the pest year is to prove that there can be such a thing as real comedy. In the early days of the pictures the statement was made that the only way to get a laugh was by slapstick methods. There are many producers of film plays who still think they cannot produce comedy without slapstick methods.

But there have been produced some comedies within the past year which did not depend on horseplay. Real laughs have been secured without resorting to anything but the most careful of comedy methods. One of the most successful of the photoplayers in this kind of comedy has been Adele Farrington of the Bosworth company. Miss Farrington hae proved herself to be a real com-

"How do you know when you are putting sufficient force into a scene -mental force that is--to arouse laughter when you have no audience to gauge by?" Miss Farrington repeated when the question was asked her. "Long ago I had formulated a scheme whereby I could gauge my auditors in a theater, by working on the feelings of some one man or woman in the audience. I would usually select some grouchy looking individual in the front row and work to him as though he was my sole auditor. Then, when my work began to reap its reward in laughs, I knew I had my audience.

"When I entered upon the protession of photoplayer I felt that I had lost this opportunity to gauge my work. But it occurred to me that there must be someone about the studios that I could use as a laugh baromster. And so I began to search for a mournful man or woman I could use for this purpose.

"The best person in the world to Work a funny story on is a sad man or woman, for when they do laugh it is whole-hearted and responsive found, in the property room of the studio, what I consider the saddest man it has ever been my misfortun was it good fortune for me) to encounter,

"He had lost all his money in a gold mining scheme; was suspended from his lodge for non-payment of dues; his sweetheart. learned of his financial difficulties, tossed him over, and, dwing to the terrible conditions caused by the war, he was forced to take a posi-tion for $25 a week. He was sad and gloomy.

"I confided in my director. I told her of my former success with the 'human barometer,' and she bore with me. 'Surely,' she replied, 'use him if you think it will do you any good.' So, unbeknown to my sad and gloomy friend. I had the property man approach him and tell him that for the forthcoming week he would receive $5 additional in salary, and that as soon as his work in the property room was finished he should report to the director. He did, and was seated light where I could watch him throughout the most of my scenes.

"At first my barometer refused absolutely to rise or fall. His mind was evidently on his lost money, tickle fiancee, or waning influence. for he sat as though petrified. We were in the midst of my first picture venture. 'A Country Mouse,' and had reached the scene where I. as the wife of the new Senator, jealous of other women's fineries, secure a host of manicurists, dressmakers. hair dressers, shoemakers, and danc-ing masters, and go through the evolutions from a typical country evolutions from a typical country mouse to a wonderfully dressed city woman. I put into this scene every cunce of energy I could muster, and lo, and behold: my barometer let out a whoop. He simply roared, and they say he hadn't laughed for months before.

months before "I was content." I had gauged my comedy propensities in pantomime and had won. I was satisfied the same rule of laughmaking maintainin photoplay as on the stage.

Writes in Own Hand in Response to Thanks for American Aid.

President Wilson today did for two Belgian children what the President of the United States rarely does for the most prominent people of this country. To these children, nine-year-old twins -brother and sister-in Brussels, the President sent a letter in long hand, acknowledging their personal thanks to acknowledging their personal thanks to TEGETABLES-(Quotations furnished by VEGETABLES-(Quotations furnished by VEGETABLES) him for what the United States has done for the poor of Belgium.

The President's letter follows:

"My Dear Little Friends.

"Your letter touched me very deeply, and I thank you for it with all my heart. It makes me very happy to think that what generous Americans have done to relieve the hunger and distress in your country has brought you the help you needed and given you a little happiness in the midst of these terrible days of war. I hope that you will grow up to be strong to do the work that will have to be done in the days of peace that are coming. It days of peace that are coming. It would be a great pleasure to me if some day I might see you both when those happier times have come. "Your sincere friend, "WOODROW WILSON." The children wrote to the President as follows:

Dear Mr. Wilson: "Pear Mr. Wilson:
"Thank you very much for the good bread. The poor people in our villages were starving for they had nothing to eat, but now that you have sent over to our dear little country a big provision of wheat, both rich and poor can live—thanks to the Americans."

"Best love and wishes from little "PUSSY DE SPOELBERCH." "I join in with my sister in thanking you, too, for it is jolly good bread, enough to satisfy any schoolboy's "E. DE SPOELBERCH."

The Sarest Investments

Are those that do not fluctuate during dis-turbed conditions of the money or stock mar-kets. First deed of trust notes (first mort-gages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gilt-edge" investments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of individuals or cor-porations for their stability, and are exempt from taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from $500 upward. Send for booklet "Concerning Loans and investments."

"The Keys of the Kingdom."

To St. Peter our Lord said, "I will give thee the keys of the Kingdom of Heaven." We shall not suppose that any who hear this discourse or read it in the newspapers are stupid enough to think Jesus meant that Heaven is locked up, and that nobody could get in ex-cept as St. Peter would admit them True, some have voiced such fantastic notions. But we refuse to believe that intelligent people could be in earnest in any such view.

St. Peter was honored in being permitted to do an opening work of nected with the inauguration of Church. The Bible shows us two ferent opening works and two different keys. A key is a symbol of power or authority or an initiative. St. Peter used his first key of privilege on Pentecost. When the Holy Spirit came upon the early waiting Church, St. Peter capitained the situation and opened the explained the situation and opened the St. Paul declared that the saints of God, the true catholic Church, "are told of the merit of Christ's death.
